Urban and Regional Planning – Visiting Professor
UTSA College of Architecture, Construction and Planning

The Urban and Regional Planning (URP) Graduate Program in the College of Architecture, Construction and Planning at the University of Texas at San Antonio (UTSA), invites qualified individuals to apply for a full-time faculty position with 9 months appointment at the rank of “Visiting Professor” beginning in August 2018. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications.

The Urban and Regional Planning program at College of Architecture, Construction and Planning offers a 48-credit hour Master of Science in Urban and Regional Planning (M.S. URP), taught with support of the Department of Public Administration in the College of Public Policy, and a 15-hour graduate certificate in Urban and Regional Planning. The program also supports the Center for Urban and Regional Planning Research, which brings together students, staff and faculty from within the University of Texas at San Antonio to address community planning, economic, infrastructure, environmental, housing and development issues impacting Texas and the border region.

The Urban and Regional Planning program resides on UTSA’s Downtown Campus, located in the heart of beautiful and historic San Antonio, Texas. San Antonio—along with Houston and Dallas-Fort Worth—comprises one leg of the Texas Triangle, an exploding megaregion whose population will grow from 15 to 25 million residents in the next four decades. The City of San Antonio, already the seventh-largest city by population in the United States, expects to add 1.1 million residents over the next 25 years, making it one of the fastest growing large cities in the nation. In anticipation of this growth, the City recently implemented a comprehensive and coordinated master plan, sustainability plan, and multi-modal transportation plan. Within this dynamic urban setting, the “Visiting Professor” position will be expected to support the effort to further establish the Urban and Regional Planning program as a leading source for urban research and academic thought, while contributing another critical voice to the already vibrant planning discourse at both the metropolitan and regional scale.

Responsibilities for the “Visiting Professor” faculty position will include both teaching and administration. This involves:

- developing and teaching a wide range of graduate-level planning courses. Emerging needs are in the fields of economic development, housing, demography, research methods for planning, geographic information system (GIS), land use planning, and regional development.
- assuming administrative responsibilities, including Interim Program Coordinator. Administrative experience is preferred.
- pursuing a clear research agenda and the promise of conducting scholarly research during his/her time at UTSA is preferred.

Required Qualifications: Candidates must possess a Ph.D. in Urban and Regional Planning or a related field from an accredited institution. Demonstrated expertise in one or more of the teaching areas cited above.

Preferred qualifications: Professional, teaching or administrative experience

Required Application Materials: Applicants must submit the following items electronically (PDF format only) by July 27, 2018 to the STARS System at: https://jobs.utsa.edu/postings/9845 (Or visit https://jobs.utsa.edu/ click on the Faculty tab and scroll down through the postings until you see this position title)

1) Letter of interest: including a narrative statement of 1 to 2 pages, describing your qualifications for the position and pedagogical approach; areas of expertise; and plans for future research

2) Curriculum Vitae

3) List of three references: including all contact information
4) Sample publications: evidence of representative research work suitable to the rank of Associate Professor

The review of applications material will begin July 13, 2018, and continue until the position is filled.

The selection process will be conducted in accordance with the provisions of faculty recruitment procedures of the University of Texas at San Antonio, which is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We encourage applications from women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities. Applicants who are selected for interviews must be able to show proof that they will be eligible and qualified to work in the United States by time of hire. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.
