Adjunct Assistant Professor-IDE Coordinator – Non Tenure-track position

The Department of Architecture at The University of Texas at San Antonio invites qualified individuals to apply for one non-tenure track position in the Interior Design program at the rank of Adjunct Assistant Professor – IDE Coordinator, beginning January 2018.

Candidate will teach specific/s assigned, contribute service to the department and college by working with curriculum development, mentoring undergraduate students, assisting with course scheduling, and serving on committees pertaining to undergraduate/graduate education and student issues.

The minimum degree requirements for this position include either a Master’s or Doctoral Degree in Interior Design, Architecture or related field. Must currently hold National Council for Interior Design Qualification (NCIDQ) or be in the process to obtain qualification; professional practice (teaching experience or leadership role at an academic institution) may substitute for professional practice). Preferred skills include: professional registration, previous teaching experience, professional software (Revit, Rhino or equivalent), and leadership experience.

The Department of Architecture offers full accredited degree programs in Architecture (M. Arch), and Interior Design (BS Interior Design) and a research degree, an MS in Architecture with two concentrations: Historic Preservation and Sustainable Architecture. The Department is housed within the College of Architecture, Construction & Planning (CACP) which has a program in Construction Science and Management (BSCSM), Urban and Regional Planning (MSURP), Certificates in Historic Preservation and Urban and Regional Planning and two research centers: the Center for Cultural Sustainability and the Center for Urban and Regional Planning Research. With 800 undergraduate and graduate students, the CACP is sponsored by full-time faculty members and adjunct faculty drawn from the local design and construction community. The CACP is located in downtown San Antonio, one of America’s oldest and most culturally diverse cities where design, construction and research find unique topics of inquiry. The CACP faculty are committed to education, and to building an institution that fosters intellectual excellence and collegiality.
